

Special Sales for ELISA Kits

With high quality control standard, ABclonal provides cost-effective ready-to-use ELISA kits for measuring a range of molecules including cytokines, chemokines, growth factors, proteases and more in multiple species. Meanwhile, ABclonal also provides customized ELISA assay development and antibody pair screening services to meet your unique needs.

Features of ABclonal ELISA Kits

High-quality antibodies (including featured recombinant monoclonal antibodies) are well selected for matching antibody pairs, which provides good basis for specificity, sensitivity and lot-to-lot consistency.

Rigorous in-house validation (including testing with knock-out cell samples) and reaction system optimization are performed to ensure reliable and stable performance of our kits.

Large collection of developed antibodies in flexible format and wide range of customized services can meet your unique needs in assay development.
